Waveland's new fire ordinance calls for permit

by EDGAR PEREZ

Waveland residents will have a legal right to burn trash in their yards provided they obtain a free permit from the fire department under provisions of an ordinance adopted by the Board of Aldermen at a Wednesday night meeting.

The new ordinance, which provides fines up to $100 for burning without a permit, becomes effective Friday, April 21.

City Attorney Lucien Gex said under an existing ordinance, adopted in the cleanup aftermath of Hurricane Camille, it is now illegal to burn anything within the Waveland city limits.

Permits for residential trash fires will be issued under the new law "provided conditions involved pose no threat to life, health and property," Gex said.

The attorney noted that the obtaining of a permit will not relieve the holder of liability or responsibility to see that the fire is safely managed.

"And the City of Waveland assumes no liability in issuing these permits," Gex added.

Fire Commissioner Don McIntyre had asked for some regulation of residential trash fires at the board's March 7 meeting.

McIntyre cited a continuing problem of fires started by weekenders after yard cleanups which are left still burning and unattended when the residents have returned to their permanent homes.

Mayor John Longo said he expects some difficulty in enforcing the new regulations, but noted the permits will be easy to obtain.

Permits will be available on a 24-hour basis, seven days a week from the fire (FIRE PERMIT-PAGE 4-A)

False alarm in Long Beach

Gov't RR officials anxious about derailment dangers

by EDGAR PEREZ

Tensions ran high for awhile Friday

Youth court faces heavy load through dual April hearings

Teen aged drinking has been cited by Charles Carter, Jr., director, Hancock County Youth Court, as the probable base cause behind a rash of cases expected to be heard in April by his court.

He said this week that charges were being or had been laid against seven Kiln area youths, charges ranging from the gambit from malicious mischief through vandalism, to breaking and entering.

"The sheriff's office is continuing to investigate these cases but it seems we are involved in a series of incidents in which teen-age drinking was involved," Carter said.

He said court would be held on April 5 and again on the 26th.

During March, the Youth Court heard 40 cases, 22 on the 18th, and 18 on the 22nd.

Of these causes, 14 were for breaking and entering, two for burglary and larceny, two for hunting violations, two each for malicious mischief and vandalism, two for neglect, and a like number for probation violation and assault and battery, one each for custody-neglect, and welfare, and 10 were for disposition or continued.

As is usual in Youth Court cases, no names were released to protect the identity of minors.

morning in Long Beach when residents suspected a derailment along Louisville and Nashville Railroad tracks through the city.

Crossings were blocked by one stalled train while a second train was holding on a siding.

Long Beach police said the delay was caused by a broken air hose on the train traveling the mainline.

Anxious residents calling the department were quickly assured there was no tragedy in the making.

In the meantime, federal transportation officials who are still anxious about the possibility of a recurrence of railroad tragedies like those last month in Waverly, Tenn., and Youngstown, Fla., this week began making stringent new safety demands on the transportation of hazardous materials.

"Waverly and Youngstown were not unavoidable natural disasters; they were time bombs waiting to go off," said Senator Jim Sasser, D-Tenn., member of a Senate subcommittee looking into safety of rail tank cars.

Sasser said the disasters could have been avoided had the proper action been taken years ago by the government regulatory agencies, the railroad industry and tank car manufacturers.

Mayor Jimmy Powers of Waverly told the subcommittee how "People in our town looked like they just came off a charcoal grill" following the explosion of a derailed propane tank car there.

He said the propane mist severely burned policemen who were waving off traffic two blocks away.

"Fifteen people were killed and 80 were permanently injured—some of their ears and noses were burned off," Powers said.

And with those Senate hearings still underway, the Federal Railroad Administration Thursday ordered the recall of about 20,000 railroad freight cars bearing faulty wheels of a type believed to have caused the Waverly accident.

The agency gave the railroads until the end of the year to replace all of approximately 100,000 wheels involved.

And in a further directive to the railroads with more immediate consequences, FRA ordered that after March 31 no hazardous material can be moved on a freight car bearing the faulty wheel, and after June 30 no car of any kind with this type wheel can be used on a train carrying a dangerous substance.

Two-thirds of the faulty wheels are on cars owned by the Family Line System, parent company of L&N, Seaboard coast and Clinchfield Railroads, the FRA reported.

eligible for payments of up to $400 from the government.

To qualify the Earned Income Credit, persons must have had an adjusted gross income or earned income of less than $8,000 in 1977 and must have maintained a household for the entire year for their child who was under 19, a full-time student or a disabled dependent.

For eligible persons, the credit is 10 percent of the first $4,000 of earned income, with a maximum credit of $400. The credit is reduced by one dollar for each $10 of earned or adjusted gross income over $4,000, phasing out completely at the $8,000 income mark.

Eligible persons can qualify for Earned Income Credit even though they may have paid in no income tax during the year, but the IRS stressed that they must file a 1977 Federal income tax return to get it.

The IRS will automatically compute the credit for taxpayers. Eligible Form 1040 filers must write "EIC" and the name of the qualifying child on line 57 of the return. Taxpayers who file Form 1040A need only write the name of the qualifying child on line 10.

Publication 596, Tax Benefit for Low-Income Individuals contains details on Earned Income Credit and is available free by using the coupon in the tax package.

Eastland

Senator James O. Eastland this week took his opposition to the Panama Canal Treaties to the Senate floor and vowed that he would never vote to give away the Panama Canal.

Senator Eastland re-stated his strong opposition to the treaties which he outlined last August in a speech before the Mississippi Chapter of the Retired Officers Association. "I will never be party to taking down the American flag in Panama," Eastland said before the Mississippi group last year.

Tuesday, Senator Eastland discussed five important objections to the treaties and explained his reasons for opposing them.

"First, Panama has no resources with which it can support the operation of the Canal," said Eastland. "The mere fact that the United States is offering to subsidize the operation of the Canal is indicative of the cold economic facts. Panama cannot operate the Canal on a non-profit basis."

"Second, the treaties do not give the U.S. clear authority to intervene if the neutrality of the Canal is attacked by a hostile power. This is outrageous in view of the fact that where the American presence is withdrawn, the Russians or their trouble-making satellites move in."

"Third, this treaty not only requires that the United States surrender ownership of the canal, but also contains the unbelievable provision which gives the little nation of Panama an absolute veto power over the United States in proposing and building another canal in a third country."

"Fourth," Senator Eastland said, "I find it incredible that it may cost the U.S. upwards of $3 billion to give away this valuable piece of real estate."

"And, fifth, it seems equally beyond belief that American negotiators made no effort to include provisions to fix the amount of tolls which Panama can charge on world commerce after 1999. Nor, did the negotiators attempt to provide that such tolls be used to maintain the canal," Senator Eastland said that he would not object to giving Panama a greater share of the toll-earnings of the Canal, but "never the surrender of the Canal, itself."

Senator Eastland said that the argument that the Canal is obsolete is not valid. "The Canal can currently accommodate 93 percent of the world fleet and 96 percent of the U.S. merchant fleet. Only 13 of the Navy's largest ships cannot navigate the Canal."

Pilgrimage...

The pilgrims first stop in Diamondhead on Friday, will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Pressman, 7812 Puna Place.

Designed by the owners, this rustic contemporary home features expansive elevations of fixed glass and post and beam construction. A massive brick fireplace forms the core of the structure, and its double firebox, twin hearts, woodbin, charcoal broiler, and unique energy-saving flue system enhance the county kitchen. A teen-age wing has separate outside entry and staircase.

Next stop is at Bayou Baneshewah (Rotten Bayou), at a new development called Devil's Elbow.

Here a small number of families are living a secluded life-style sought and found by the Acadians.

Following lunch at the Diamondhead Country Club, the Pilgrimage will visit the home of Dr. and Mrs. John B. Taylor, Golf Club Drive, Diamondhead.

This cedar home, built in the Diamondhead motif, features a U-shaped living area with Cathedral ceiling. The paintings in the home are all original Western art. A beautiful rock garden marks the entrance.

Next the group will visit Rotten Bayou Cemetery, replete with historical background, it is essentially a family cemetery for the Fenton and Mills communities.

On their visit to Pass Christian, the Pilgrims will register at the Town Library (221 Scenic Drive) at 10 a.m., an institution whose books date back to 1893, and believed to be the oldest library on the coast.

The homes to be visited in the Pass will be open in two groups. One will be visited between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 noon, and the other from 2 to 4 p.m.

Lunch will be served in the Pass Yacht Club from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

In the first group of home are those of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Eubanks, 419 Scenic Drive.

Washington report

TAX INEQUITIES CAUSED BY MARITAL STATUS By CONGRESSMAN TRENT LOTT

The subject of federal tax reform includes such a variety of related sub-headings that sometimes you think they should be made part of some other issue. But one crucial portion of tax reform legislation should be a correction of the discrepancy now created by marital status.

I have joined almost a hundred of my colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives in co-sponsoring legislation designed to end the discrimination against more than 50 million American taxpayers because of marital status.

Currently married couples (where both spouses work) and single people bear the brunt of these tax inequities. A single person can pay as much as 20 percent more in income taxes than a married person making the same amount of money.

Even single people with children to support can pay a "penalty" of up to 10 percent for being widowed, separated or divorced.

The situation is almost as bad for husbands and wives who both work. If a husband and wife each earn $5,000, they can pay $200 more in taxes than two single people making $5,000 each. This particular inequity owes its origin to the notion that salaried work by a wife is a luxury.

But, as any wage-earner can tell you, this notion is without foundation, especially today when almost 90 percent of the working wives are from households with incomes of less than $25,000.

The rampant inflation which has cursed the American economy for years is showing little sign of lifting its heavy burden. As a consequence, many American families are being forced into having both spouses work just to try to stay afloat.

RR wheels...

replace the hazardous wheel, the federal officials said.

In addition to Family Line companies, some 47 other railroads own cars equipped with the suspect wheels.

The FRA action comes within two weeks of a National Transportation Safety Board recommendation the FRA use its emergency powers to call in the freight cars for replacement of the wheels.

The FRA also called a hearing for April 7 to consider reducing the four-year period now allowed before new safety devices are to be required on tank cars carrying hazardous materials.

Transportation Secretary Brock Adams and FRA Director John M. Sullivan said these newest moves reflect their concern about the safety of railroad transportation.

"There must be no question in the minds of railroad industry officials and the public that propane, chlorine, acids and any other hazardous substance will not be transported on a railroad car along a line which does not comply with all safety regulations," Sullivan said.

Under current regulations, new special couplers, head shields and thermal insulation—all of which would help to minimize the danger in tank car accidents—are to be installed by Dec. 31, 1981.

Head shields are thick steel plates installed on the front and rear of tank cars to prevent couplers on adjoining cars from puncturing the tank in the event of an accident.

Raymond K. James, chief counsel for the FRA, said one suggestion is to move up to the end of this year the requirement that head shields be installed on all tank cars.

Philip A. Hogue of the safety board said tank cars can be modified at a relatively low cost to be at least four times as safe.

Special couplers will add only about $150 to the cost of the car, and head shields will cost about $1,500 per car, Hogue said.

"It is not the poor, unprofitable railroads which will have to pay for these changes, but the corporations which ship hazardous materials," he noted.

At a recent meeting between local and state government officials with L&N Railroad executives in Bay St. Louis, Ira L. Bell of L&N said tank cars are generally owned by the companies which use them to ship their products.

Letters to the Editor

Church reaches out

Marh 22, 1978

Dear Editor:

I would appreciate it very much if you would print the following article in whole or in part, in your newspaper. I am sure that many people who read your newspaper would be very happy to know of this program, and some of them could benefit from it.

From statistics released recently, it is estimated about 4 million of the 48 million American Catholics are separated or divorced, and many of these are remarried. Almost every U.S. Catholic family is indirectly touched by divorce.

Recently the American Bishops dropped the automatic ex-communication penalty from divorced and remarried Catholics. The Bishops are showing a greater awareness of, and sensitivity to, the needs of separated and divorced Catholics.

The feeling of guilt from a divorce can be overwhelming. A divorced Catholic is faced with many problems and feelings - feelings of alienation from the Church and the spouse, failure, sadness, depression, and so on. Problems arise which are legal, financial, psychological and spiritual.

Catholic Social Services (Catholic Charities) is sponsoring an ongoing program for separated and divorced Catholics. It deals with such questions as, "Where do I stand with the Catholic Church?", "Where do I get help for my children?", "Where do I get help for myself?", "What does a divorce entail - legally, financially, etc." Separated and divorced people can help each other, and this is one of the goals of the group.

The fact that the Church is reaching out to help separated and divorced Catholics does not mean that the Church is changing its teaching on the permanency of marriage. What it does mean is that the Church is concerned for those people who are faced with the traumatic experience of a divorce, and wants to help if at all possible by providing support, empathy, understanding and information.

The meetings are open to everyone - separated, divorced, married, single, Catholic, Protestant.

A meeting will be held at Danzler House (beside the Biloxi Lighthouse) on April 5th at 7:30 P.M. Dr. Bill Howard, a clinical psychologist, will talk about "Emotional Recovery After A Divorce."

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,
Rev. John Noone, M.S.W.

Registration dates for summer school are Tuesday, June 6, for the first term, and Monday, July 10, for the second term.

Gone but not Forgotten

Gone — but not forgotten
Nor will he ever be;
The Lord who came to Earth from Heaven,
To save sinners like you and me.
He spent a short time upon the Earth
Yet gave it such a wonderful rebirth.
They nailed Him to a cruel cross,
Though His life on Earth was never loss.
They bound Him and they laid Him,
In a tomb so big and dim;
They rolled a huge stone against the door,
And left Him to rest forevermore.
The grave clothes could not hold Him,
Nor could the tomb so dim;
The angels rolled the stone away,
And rose in glory on that day.
He lives in glory with the Father,
Who gave His son to save us all;
He'll come again to take us home,
The one He's preparing now — recall?
Thank God that He is risen,
He said "I'm He" went away,
I'll not leave you alone,
I'll put will send you the Comforter to stay.
I too will return for you all one day,
After I have prepared a place
To receive you "Unto Myself".
For He has saved us by His Wonderful Grace.
Thank you, Father — for Your son who came.
He died for us but rose again.
We long for His return today,
He is not forgotten — though He's gone away.

HI, JOCK,
RUN AROUND THE BLOCK
By Joan Kahn

Picture by Whitney Darrow, Jr.

There are lots of wonderful things to see in this romp around the block — past the pet store, past the candy store and playground, past the haunted house... and finally past friendly neighbors who have lots of toys — and share them!
Young children will enjoy the humorous, action-filled pictures in three colors and will soon be chanting the rhythmic verses as they go, dashing along with Jock.
Joan Kahn, a native New Yorker, also wrote "Seesaw" and "You Can't Catch Me" and is the editor of several volumes of suspense stories for young adults, including "Some Things Dark and Dangerous". The well-known
New Yorker cartoonist,

Whitney Darrow, Jr., lives in Wilton, Connecticut, and has illustrated the I CAN Read Book, "Bony," by Fran Zweifel.

LITTLE CHICK'S STORY
By Mary DeBall Kwitz
Pictures by Cyndy Szekeres
Ages 4-8

"My chick-a-dee, my chick-a-dee, my golden, downy chick-a-dee,"
the sun is warm,
the wind blows free,
hatch out for me, my chick-a-
dee."

After laying one egg for the farmer's son and one for the farmer's daughter, a third for the bushy-tailed raccoon, and a fourth for the Easter rabbit, Broody Hen laid one just for herself.

So Broody Hen did.
And it was a very special story because it was Little Chick's story.
Littering as a round and reassuring as a lullaby, this endearing book, illustrated in three colors, is perfect for little children beginning to read. Mary DeBall Kwitz, a native of Chicago, now lives in Lombard, Illinois. Cyndy
Szekeres, who grew up in Fairfield, Connecticut, now lives in Vermont.

Second Kergosien honored as Gulf scholar-athlete

By SHARON WALLS
Senior Bill Kergosien of St. Stanislaus will be honored as a scholar athlete at the annual banquet of the regional chapter of the National

Bill Kergosien

Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, 7:30 p.m., Thursday, March 30, in the Hilton Hotel in Biloxi. He will be the second Kergosien in five years to receive the award. His brother Rick was the recipient of the honor in 1973.

Seven honorees from the Gulf Coast were chosen on the basis of performance on the football field, in academic and in related activities.

Kergosien, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Kergosien of Bay St. Louis, tallied over 1000 yards rushing for the Rock-a-chaws this past season and scored ten touchdowns. For his performance he was named to the All-Conference team and was awarded Most Valuable Back by SSC. Kergosien is also a winning pole-vaulter and runner for the track team.

In addition to his achievements on the gridiron, the Star Student has maintained a perfect 4.0 average in his six years at Stanislaus. He is president of the SSC chapter of the National Honor Society, represented the school in the American Legion Boy's State this past summer, and was also a delegate to the Presidential Classroom

February in Washington. His average on the ACT is 30 and he scored a combined 1200 on the SAT.

While representing Stanislaus in the State Science and Math Fair, Kergosien scored within the top ten percent in biology, and was a member of the State Champion Prep Quiz Bowl team. He was a recipient of the Louisiana State Alumni Federation Scholarship, extended to only 25 out-of-state students, consistently on the President's Honor Roll, he is also a member of the SSC yearbook staff.

The executive secretary Jimmy (Mississippi Red) McDowell, of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame in New York will act as master of ceremonies for the banquet during which Kergosien and the other athletes will be introduced by their school representatives and will be presented with a certificate of achievement from the chapter. Two senior citizens and a coach of the year will also be guests for the evening.

Other recipients of the honor will be George Silman of Notre Dame, Ricky Floyd of Gulfport, Gene Barry of Moss Point, James Tigney of George County, Byrd Hillman of Ocean Springs and Barry Lyons of Biloxi.

Boating cut announced for Paul B. Johnson

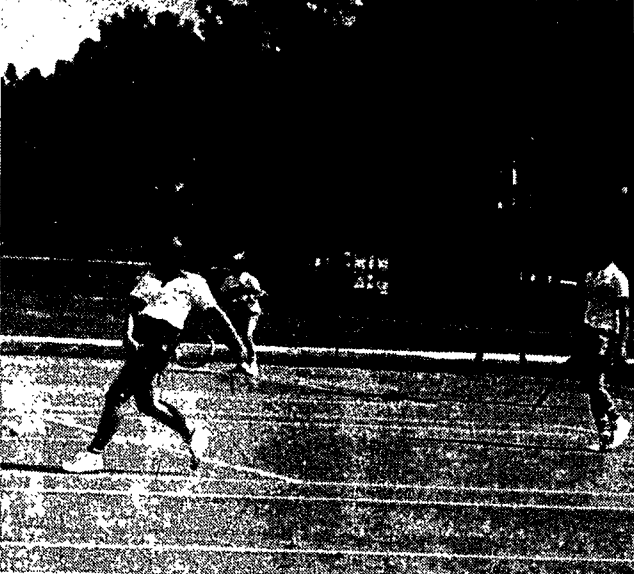

A reduction in boating activities has been announced for the lake in Paul B. Johnson Park near Wiggins by the Mississippi Park Commission.

During the summer, skiing will be allowed Saturdays and Sundays only from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a maximum horse power of 80. The lake is not large enough to safely accommodate an unlimited number of high-speed ski boats, according to a Park Commission spokesman.

The reduction in boat traffic will prevent extensive erosion caused by constant wave action and water pressure at the base of the dam, which is awaiting official inspection by the Corps of Engineers. The Corps has not yet scheduled the dam for inspection. The Park Commission's own review has shown the dam to be safe.

The Park Commission has also ruled that no jet boats will be allowed on any state park lakes.

Other state parks affected by boating reduction decisions are Percy Quin, McComb, Tombigbee, Tupelo; Lake Lowndes, Columbus; and Tishomingo, Dennis. Holmes County State Park will be closed to skiing this year and the lake at Roosevelt State Park will not be open to the public.

LOW BOUNCE - Abbie Murtagh reaches for low bounce in mixed doubles match against Stone County Thursday. Murtagh and partner Colin Jones swept the bouts, 6-0, 6-1.

Forestry programs add to wealth of county

During the first seven months of the current fiscal year Mississippi timberland owners claimed a million dollars worth of financial assistance for improvement of their forest acreage through State and Federal forestry incentives program, according to the Mississippi Forestry Commission (MFC).

MFC reported a total of 820 forestry cost-share assistance cases completed from July 1977 through January, 1978. Average forested area per case was slightly over 40 acres with nearly 30 dollars per acre being paid to landowners for such timber improvement projects as site preparation, tree planting, deadening of cull and undesirable trees, etc.

Any timberland owner may apply for cost share assistance, in making his forest acreage more productive, either through the county ASCS or the local Mississippi Forestry Commission county forester's office.

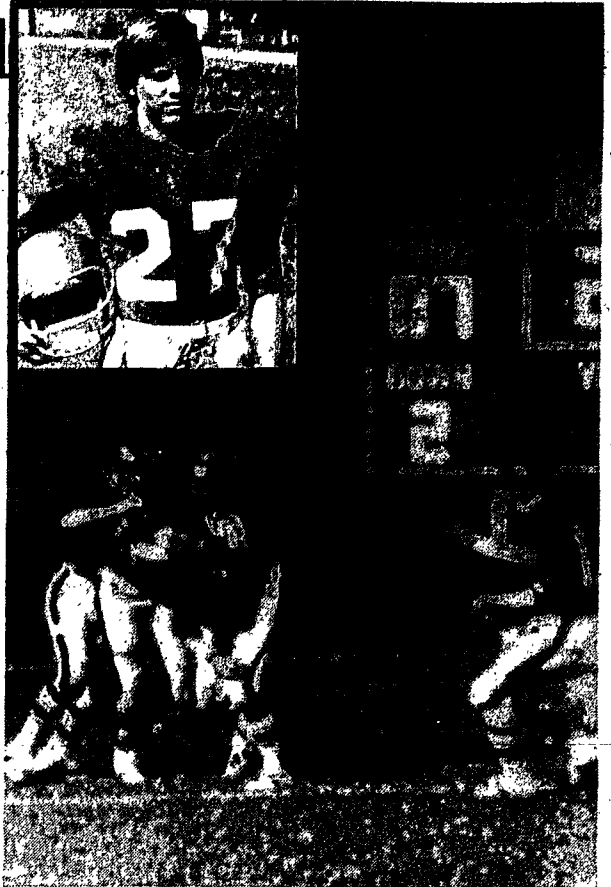

The federal Forestry Incentives Program (F.I.P.) is administered through ASCS, with the Forestry Commission providing technical assistance. Forest Resource Development Program (FRDP) cost sharing is handled completely by the State Forestry Agency.

Types of forestry improvement practices for which financial aid is available as well as the rate of cost-sharing are virtually identical under both programs. There are minor variations in requirements for qualifying to receive the cost-share assistance. About one in every three acres of timber-growing land in Mississippi is in need of one or more of these forestry improvement practices. Available incentive funds to do the work are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis.

Interested landowners are urged to contact their local county forester or ASCS office, to get full details along with personal advice and assistance concerning these incentive programs.

Information may also be obtained by writing the State Forester, 908 Robert E. Lee Building, Jackson, 39201.

RAQUETBALL ON ETV

Bullets, People's Choice share top slot in League

By SHARON WALLS
The Bullets and the People's Choice, tied up for first place in the Men's City League, each drew their seventh win in the final games of the season Thursday in Valena C. Jones. The Bullets shot down the Rollers, who are ranked in second place, 68-62, in the evening's opener, and the People's Choice rolled over third ranked Warriors, 124-70.

In the first seven minutes of the contest, the Bullets shut out the Rollers to the tune of 10-0, but the Rollers got on the board in the closing minutes of the period with a jump shot from Fabian Collins.

The Rollers fought ahead, 27-26, with three minutes left in the first half, and the opponents traded off points to go into the break, 35-34 in the Rollers favor.

The green-shirted Bullets drove ahead in the last half of the fourth set after a 48-all tie, netting a 62-56 lead two minutes before the final bell.

Bullet team-mates Jack Lewis and Gary Dorsey led the game in scoring with 24 and 21 points respectively, while Nathaniel Jones sank 18 and Elmo Jacobs got 16 for the Rollers.

Russell Fairconature sent in 28 points to spark the People's Choice to their seventh win, backed up by 22 from Louis Davis, 18 from Luke Trelor, and 16 from Wilfred Riles. Together these four combined for almost two-thirds of the teams' 124 points.

For the third place Warriors, Alvin Smith netted 24 points, Harry Farve got 14 and Sherman Gardener contributed 11.

With 7-3 records, the Bullets and People's Choice are in the top slot in the league. The Rollers are tied up with the Mavericks, at 5-5, in second.

In third, the Warriors and War Hawks each end the season at 3-7.

Each library will be planning its own program for the afternoon, according to Mrs. Waller.

"I urge every person in Mississippi to go by at least one library on Super Sunday, April 2," Mrs. Waller said. "It's a great opportunity to find out just what's there for you."

You've heard of Superman and the Super Bowl - but now there's Super Sunday - at the library!

As part of the observance of National Library Week 1978, libraries across Mississippi will be open to the public on Sunday afternoon, April 2. The occasion will begin the annual observance of National Library Week in Mississippi, April 2-8.

Super Sunday is being planned in accordance with the goal for National Library Week 1978: to promote the value of library services provided by public, school, college-university and special (church, hospital, business, law, etc.) libraries and to emphasize the worth and variety of these libraries.

Libraries across the state will be encouraging local citizens to visit their library with an award being presented to the library which has the largest percentage of first-time visitors. Special certificates of appreciation will be awarded to first-time visitors of the library.

"Super Sunday is an attempt by the NLW steering committee to focus attention on Mississippi libraries - both their many services and their needs," explained Mrs. Bill Waller, former first lady of Mississippi and state chair-

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES LEE WAGNER

Charles Lee Wagner, son of Mrs. Lewis Moore Wagner, Bay St. Louis, and the late Capt. Wagner at a Nuptial Mass at 6 p.m. Feb. 24 at St. Thomas Catholic Church, Long Beach.

Rev. Jack Cawley, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Tall white wicker baskets with pink and white spring blossoms adorned the altar flanked by branched candelabra holding white tapers.

A program of nuptial music was presented by J. Bradley Kamp, Sister Marie Charles Cozzi, D.C., Sister Arlene McCrindle, D.C., Sister Patricia Shevlin, D.C., and Sister Honora Eemes, D.C., Long Beach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory peau de soie featuring a high neckline accented with Chantilly lace. Appliques of matching lace trimmed the bodice, long sleeves and skirt. The back of the gown was trimmed with ivory bows. Her veil of ivory illusion, edged with lace, fell from a Camelot cap of lace and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of ivory and white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Richard Ducote of New Orleans attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Cynthia and Marian Cornell, Long Beach, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. David Ryle, Gulfport.

They wore copper tone satin gowns fashioned with draped necklines of matching chiffon trimmed with soft flat bows, their bouquets were pink and white spring flowers interspersed with pink and white rosebuds.

Lewis Moore Wagner Jr., Waveland, was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were James C. Wagner, Pass Christian, brother of the groom, S. Patrick Murphy Jr., Ronald Genin and Charles Genin, Bay St. Louis, and Richard Ducote, New Orleans.

Charles Cornell, Long Beach, brother of the bride, and a cousin, Michael Odenwalder of Dickinson, Tex., served as acolytes.

The mother of the groom wore an apple green floor length crepe dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held at Gulfport Yacht Club, where the bride's table, overlaid with a sheer linen cloth, was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with an arrangement of pink and white rosebuds. Silver and crystal epergnes, white candles and pink and white rosebuds completed the decorations.

For her traveling outfit the bride chose a navy blue silk gabardine dress fashioned with a cowl neckline and full skirt with matching accessories. A corsage of white orchids completed her ensemble.

The couple will reside in Long Beach.

"Myths of Aging" to form seminar topic

"The only alternative to growing old is dying young," says Marc Oleshansky, mental health associate at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, "and in order to enjoy our later years, we should learn early in life about the realities of the aging process." Much of the common knowledge people have about aging, he said, consists of many popular myths. Consider the following commonly known myths:

- (1) Seventy-year-old people as a group are more similar physiologically and socially than are thirty-year-old people as a group.
- (2) The natural aging process tends to cause older people to become conservative and resistant to change.
- (3) Intelligence and the ability to learn decline because of the aging process.
- (4) Most older people are or will be "senile."
- (5) Most older people will live in a nursing home or some similar institution before they die.

Contrary to popular belief, says Oleshansky, older people are more diverse as a group than are younger people. Rather than become conservative, they tend to keep the same characteristics and beliefs they held when they were younger, whether liberal or conservative.

The aging process does not in itself result in a decline in intelligence and learning ability, stated Oleshansky. Intelligence increases in the early 20's, then levels off and stays the same as long as no severe physical or social problems occur in a person's life. As people grow older, he added, they naturally tend to become more knowledgeable.

The Ole Pastor Says

SO MANY OF LIFE'S RICHER BLESSINGS come in subtle ways! Feeling a bit rebellious against a few days of involuntary confinement due to a brief illness, yesterday I moved out into the yard, down the street and by an untouched wooded area for a leisurely stroll, meditation and reflection. I was suddenly aware that all nature about me was being aroused from its winter retreat. The handiwork of God was everywhere in all its awe-inspiring splendor!

The miracle of Spring is literally bursting forth upon us in all its radiant profusion of splendor and magnificence. The mocking bird, the red bird, the thrasher, the wren and others were all rejoicing together in song amidst the thrilling pageantry and presence of Spring, with Summer soon to follow.

Their swelling voices blended in seeming perfection to compose a magic symphony. These little creatures of God winged their way about with complete confidence that He who does all things well will make every needed provision for His own. They put to shame the faint-hearted and faltering faith of God's children.

All the trees and flowers, it seems, are rushing to be first to display their lustrous rainbow of colors. The plum tree is snowy white in bloom. The crabapple is rushing to spread its own range of color from deep crimson to a baby pink. The pear has already arranged its own bouquet. The dogwood seems impatient to lay out its own dazzling display of colored sunburst.

The clinging yellow jasmine hangs majestically everywhere along the way with its own aromatic splendor for nature's Place of Royalty!

The redbud, quince and bride's wreath are on time to add their part to the whole of nature's own arrangement of radiant profusion which adorns our lovely Springtime environment to reveal the hand of God so richly in creation. The honey bee moves busily from blossom to blossom scenting and gathering the sweet nectar of each.

It is Springtime! The barren face of Winter's chilling blast must retire, giving way for God's hand in nature to dress the earth again in its perennial display of life and beauty. In all the phenomenal glory of Spring the presence of God is richly revealed in creation - but only

In His inspired Word is His Person, nature and purpose clearly revealed!

It all adds up to remind us mortals again that we can take our rest when needed, for God is awake and well!

More than anything else, the Miracle of Spring reminds us of the Miracle of the Resurrection and life eternal in Jesus Christ.

It is Springtime! God lives; Jesus saves; and the Holy Spirit, comforts and directs our pathway... and I am happy! Amen? Amen! — L. S. Walker.

Medicare, Medicaid forum slated for Gulfport, 3 - 30

The general public will be asked to comment on their problems with Medicare and Medicaid during a public forum to be held Thursday, March 30, at the Westside Community Center in Gulfport, according to Mrs. Virginia Smyth, Regional Administrator of HEW's Health Care Financing Administration.

Suggestions and Comments from the general public as to how the two programs can be improved will be received by Mrs. Smyth and other federal and state officials beginning at 9 a.m. at the Center, which is located on West Beach

Boulevard, Highway 90 West. The public forum is one of the first such meetings to identify grass roots problems with Medicare and Medicaid to be held in the nation. Mrs. Smyth said similar forums will be conducted in seven other states in the southeast and elsewhere in the nation.

The Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District's Agency on Aging and the Harrison County Community Action Agency are providing assistance for the public forum.

Health professionals will be questioned by federal officials during an afternoon session beginning at 2 p.m. at the Center.

CHAPTER HONORS

The Phi Beta Lambda chapter at the University of Southern Mississippi took a number of chapter awards and top individual honors at the recent Mississippi State Leadership Conference at University of Mississippi.

Both Bicker and King referred to increased gravel costs because of the Surface Mining Act passed by the last session of the Mississippi legislature which goes into effect on April 15th of this year. The act applies to land surface mining operations and includes gravel pit operations if they are larger than four acres, and requires that the mining operator restore the land surface to a natural topography and condition so it will not be a liability to the area.

King anticipated that the reclamation of site would add about 30 to 50 cents per yard to the cost of clay gravel from his pits. He said he already had started reclaiming some of his old pit, and after restoring the surface with earth moving equipment he would plant pine trees on the sites.

Gravel is especially valuable to this state for road building purposes in rural areas, and has been the major means of converting the state's early road system from impassable mud during inclement weather to an all weather network of transportation.

In 1976 Mississippi's sand and gravel production totaled nearly $20 million - down from just over $23 million the previous year. Sand and gravel rank next to gas and oil in mineral productive value for the state. Most of the sand is used as fill or foundation material for - construction projects - both roadways and buildings.

Washed gravel is used as aggregate in concrete. Mississippi's streams and gravel pits produce a high quality material that is unusually attractive as an exposed finish on concrete sidewalks, panel or for outdoor furniture or other durable uses.

Mississippi streams also abound in semi-precious stones mixed among the common pebbles tumbled by streams and sand into attractive shapes and colors. Lapidarists and rock hounds use these stones for grinding and polishing into jewelry or other highly ornamental uses.

Both Bicker and King concur that the quality of clay gravel is destined to decline in the years ahead as the pits with the highest ratio of pebbles to clay or sand are used. Still, they believe, there is no imminent danger of road or building projects suffering.
